AMUSEMENTS.

"THE TWO JOHNS."

The Grand was crowded again last night for the second production of the farce hit, "The Two Johns," which has been revived on a pretentious scale, and it is even more amusing than when it created such a furore of fun several years ago. The company has made a splendid impression here, and it goes without saying that the standing room sign will be out for the final performance this evening.—Wheeling Daily Intelligencer.

The above attraction will be seen at the Grand Opera House, in this city, to-night.
—M. B. Willoughby, business manager of P. R. Hallam's "Damon and Pythias" company, was in town recently and during his visit he closed a contract for the appearance of the company at the Grand, on Thursday, Oct.
22. The company has just been organized in New York, and is composed of well-known players, and the scenery only recently painted by one of the country's leading scenic artists. Some of the scenes will be of unusual beauty and a special set will be carried for each of the five acts.

LIZZIE EVANS IN "COZY CORNERS."

"At Cozy Corners," calendered for Friday, Oct. 23, the Boston Transcript speaking of Miss Evans' appearance there, said: So far as one gift can be identical with another, Miss Evans' gift is one with that of the great and only Rosina Vokes; like her she is so mirthful and yet so modest; like her she has a perfectly irresistible grace of the unexpected; a something her managers hint at; graphically enough when they advertise her as sparkling, dashing, mirthful. There is a pathetic stroke in the efforts of the little violinist of the stage to adopt herself to the wisely duties of a rigidly orthodox young minister, which Miss Evans' part of the play calls for.

Seat sale opens October 19th.

Without knowing it, at a banquet years ago, Mr. Riley in describing "Our Kind of a Man," gave a true picture of himself. Said he: "Our kind of a man, when he speaks is very apt indeed to depend neither upon memory or manuscript, but to very simply says something pleasant about being reminded of a little story, one absolutely new and fresh, which he proceeds to tell deliciously as well as briefly, and then sits down and stays down, though we jar the plastering loose with our applause. He has nobly done a very noble duty and we all honor the man whose common sense had no impediment in it, and who thus so sanely instructed us what to do. That our kind of a man is a genius everybody is convinced, except himself. He gives that distinguished personage very little thought indeed.
Rather, he is thinking kindly and pleasantly and helpfully of somebody or something else. Thus his own personality he utterly overlooks." At the Music Hall, Cincinnati, on the evening of October 23d.
